

Trend Micro Reports Earnings Results for Q1 2026

- Increase of 9% YoY in total company net sales*, driving U.S. $1.7 Billion in ARR with operating margin exceeding plan at 21%
- Increase of 50% YoY in TrendAI Vision One™ annual recurring revenue (ARR), contributing to total enterprise ARR surpassing U.S. $1.3 Billion
- Increase of 49% YoY in Digital Life Protection ARR, fueling consumer ARR of U.S. $372 Million

TOKYO, May 14, 2026 /PRNewswire/ -- Trend Micro Incorporated (TYO: 4704;TSE: 4704), the largest global cybersecurity company headquartered outside the U.S., today announced first-quarter 2026 financial earnings, ending March 31, 2026, with annual recurring revenue (ARR) exceeding U.S. $1.7 Billion, up 3% year-over-year (YoY).

Eva Chen, co-founder and CEO: "Q1 marked a defining moment for Trend Micro. With the launch of TrendAI™ and TrendLife™, we have two purpose-built business units leading enterprise and consumer cybersecurity into the AI era, backed by partnerships with industry leaders like NVIDIA and Anthropic. With TrendAI™ and TrendLife™, we're not only redefining how security is delivered in the age of AI, we're giving every customer and consumer the trusted partner they need to move boldly into what's next."

Trend Micro's enterprise AI cybersecurity business, TrendAI™, delivered 50% YoY Vision One ARR growth, driven by surging demand for AI security fueling platform adoption. As organizations accelerate their operational transformations, the US is leading global Vision One ARR, followed by Japan and then Germany, powering overall TrendAI™ ARR as it exceeds U.S. $1.3 Billion and grows at 4%.

Channel adoption is amplifying this growth, with over 100 new strategic service providers standardizing Vision One. Now totaling over 290, TrendAI™ is realizing an 8x ARR multiplier per partner with the depth and breadth of the platform.

Trend's consumer business, TrendLife™, declined 1% YoY in ARR as the remaining impacts of payment processing challenges were realized. Positive momentum was seen through Q1, with churn rate recovering and ARPU increasing 2% YoY to U.S. $33.3. Fueling growth is Digital Life Protection, up 49% YoY and now representing 35% of total TrendLife™ ARR.

Trend's incubation businesses, VicOne and Magna, continued to build momentum through Q1, establishing themselves in fast-growing AI markets. VicOne, focused on physical vehicle and robotic AI cybersecurity, continues to innovate and expand opportunities in the developing space. Magna is positioning itself as a leading systems integrator for AI deployments, building its ecosystem to become the partner of choice for large organizations in top AI-spending countries.

Kevin Simzer, COO: "We delivered a solid Q1, with disciplined execution and continued operating efficiencies driving margins to 21%, exceeding plan. The operational foundation we've built gives us confidence in our full-year plan. We will continue driving efficiency, investing in strategic growth across the business units, and delivering results that reflect the strength of Trend Micro."

For this quarter, Trend Micro posted consolidated net sales of 73,856 million Yen (or US $470 million, 156.92 JPY = 1USD). The company posted operating income of 15,558 million Yen (or US $99 million) and net income attributable to owners of the parent of 11,775 million Yen (or US $75 million) for the quarter.

The company does not revise expected consolidated results for the full fiscal year ending December 31, 2026. Based on information currently available to the company, consolidated net sales for the year ending December 31, 2026 are expected to be 301,500 million Yen (or US $ 1,932 million, based on an exchange rate of 156 JPY = 1 USD). Operating income and net income attributable to owners of the parent company are expected to be 56,400 million Yen (or US $361 million) and 36,600 million Yen (or US $234 million), respectively.
